- 1 4. Mr. Lake told me that he has been the Postmaster of the Boyes Hot Springs Post Office for 2 over 10 years.
- 3 5. Upon showing Mr. Lake the replicated name and address, he immediately recognized the 4 address as a post office box that "has belonged to that family for a very long time."
- 5 6. Mr. Lake also noted that the city was not correct – that it should have been Boyes Hot 6 Springs rather than Boyes Hotspring.
- 7 7. I asked Mr. Lake whether he believed that an envelope bearing the name and address as 8 written on the paper I was showing him would have been delivered to the post office at Boyes
9 Hot Springs.
- 10 8. He told me that if the address on the envelope was similar to that on the paper I was showing 11 him and if the address was clear on the envelope and could be clearly read, there was an 85%
12 chance that it would be delivered to the Boyes Hot Springs Post Office.
- 13 9. I also asked Mr. Lake if he recalled whether in 2003 the family that owned that post office
14 box had received mail from the INS. He told me that there was no way he could remember 15 whether they had or had not.
- 16 10. Mr. Lake also told me that if the INS wanted to be 100% sure that someone was going to get 17 a letter from them, they should send it certified. According to him, that way either someone 18 signs for it or they don't, and if they don't, after 15 days the letter goes back to sender if no
19 one claims it. According to Mr. Lake, the Internal Revenue Service always sends their mail
20 certified because he sees many certified letters from the IRS and he believes the INS should 21 do the same.
